New Year Greetings!!

The Foundation's Board and Staff wishes all its members a happy, healthy and preservation-conscious New Year.

We take this opportunity to thank all of you for your help and contributions throughout the past year. We look forward to working with you again in 1989, to make this the best year yet in preserving Alberta's history.

Board Member Resigns

The Chairman of the Foundation's Board has regretfully accepted the resignation of Dr. Walter Jamieson, who has served two consecutive terms as a Board member.

The Board thanks Dr. Jamieson for his devotion and commitment to the Foundation's work and objectives in preservation matters.

A Message To Our Members

Our members are an integral part of the Alberta Historical Resources Foundation and we rely on them to assist in fulfilling our mandate.

As set out in the Historical Resources Act, the objects of the Foundation include the promotion of the public's awareness of Alberta's history and culture and to stimulate the interest of the public in our historical and architectural heritage.

To do this we need a broadly based membership throughout the province. We need members who will keep the Board and staff informed of heritage issues in all corners of the province, and spread the word about the Foundation so that we can assist in the preservation of Alberta's heritage.

We ask that for now you do two things. Firstly, if your membership has expired, PLEASE RENEW. And secondly, get a friend (or two) to join. Membership is only $5.00 a year, but you can always add a bit more as a donation. Members' fees and donations are all part of our source of funding.

An application form is enclosed with this issue of The Cornerstone.

Elise Corbet, Chairperson,
Public Awareness Committee,
Board of Directors.

Notice

The Spring Issue of The Cornerstone will be mailed out March 17th, 1989. Therefore, submissions for the Spring Issue should be sent to the Editor, no later than February 1, 1989.

New Law Protects Heritage Railway Stations

The C.P.R. Train Station, Claresholm built in 1911-12, using the sandstone and other materials of the dismantled Calgary Station build in 1893. The Foundation has recently provided a $10,000 grant towards a feasibility study to determine the needs of upgrading the station and its surroundings. Photo Credit: Alberta Culture

On September 22, 1988, Bill C-205, an Act to protect heritage railway stations, was given Royal Assent. The Law is expected to come into effect January 1, 1989.

The passing of Bill C-205 ends years of frustration for heritage groups. Until this law was passed, the railway stations, owned by Federally - regulated railway companies, could not be designated or legally protected.

The passing of Bill C-205:

- enables the Federal Minister of the Environment to designate heritage railway stations on the advice of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.
- provides an orderly review process when a railway company wishes to "remove, destroy or alter or sell, assign, transfer or otherwise dispose of a heritage railway station owned by it or otherwise under its control."

The railway company owning the designated station has to apply to the Federal Minister of the Environment for authorization to undertake any proposed action. The final decision on an application is made by the Cabinet, on the advice of the Minister.

Any individual may object to the application of a railway, which must give "public notice" of its intention to file an application. The Historic Sites and Monuments Board "shall give all interested persons a reasonable opportunity" to make representations to it and may hold a public meeting "to determine whether the Minister should recommend that the Federal cabinet grant the railway company authorization."

Violations under the Act are dealt with firmly, with railway companies liable to a "fine of not less than $50,000 and not more than $1,000,000."

Strome Memorial Hall A Registered Historical Resource

A plaque presentation ceremony, marking the Strome Memorial Hall a Registered Historic Resource, was held in Strome, October 22, 1988. During the ceremony Steve West, M.L.A., presented the plaque to the Strome Museum Society.

The hall, built by volunteers and public subscription, was officially opened in 1920, to honour men from the area who served overseas and for those who did not return from WWI.

Fire destroyed the hall in 1935 but it was quickly rebuilt on the site, using the original chimney. The hall was extended 20 feet at this time, to include a projection room. The 30' x 60' hall, with full basement, has remained much the same as it was 53 years ago.

For over 70 years, the Memorial Hall has been the cultural and social life of Strome and district. Although a new entertainment hall was built in Strome in 1986, the Strome community made a strong commitment to preserve the hall, which was slated for demolition. This interest resulted in the formation of the Strome & District Historical Society.

With a grant from the Alberta Historical Resources Foundation, the hall is being renovated to meet today's fire and insulation requirements.

The Society uses the hall as a museum which was officially opened June 21, 1987, as a tribute to the pioneers of Strome and district. The museum is open daily from 2:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. or by request.

Early Schools Remembered

The Edberg Historical Society has erected 22 school district markers to mark the location of schools that once dotted the Edberg, Meeting Creek and Donalda vicinity. The project was funded from the profit made from the sale of the Society's local history book.

The Historical Society was formed in 1985 for the purpose of restoring the old building.

The station was built in 1913, three years after the arrival of the C.N.R. (C.NoR.) line between Vegreville and Calgary. The Standard Third Class Station was one of the C.NoR's many Plan 100-29 buildings, erected in a flurry of construction across the prairies between 1910 and 1918.

When the company was purchased by the C.N.R. in 1918, the design was modified slightly and re-issued as Plan 100-72. In 1923 the C.N.R. adopted new standards and the old design was abandoned. Of the 35 stations erected in Alberta, the Meeting Creek Station is the only one remaining on its original site.

In 1986, when C.N.R. sold the line to the Central Western Railway (C.W.R.), the station had been badly vandalized.

Tom Payne, owner, plans to purchase a passenger coach and use the station as a starting point for tours of his 100 mile length of railroad. The Historical Society, responsible for the station's restoration, works in conjunction with the C.W.R.

The Station's waiting room, office and freight shed will eventually be furnished and modelled after a typical 1950's branchline depot.

Dickson Store Designated

A ceremony designating the Dickson Store a Provincial Historical Resource, took place September 4th in Dickson. Nigell Pengelly, M.L.A. and Dr. Frits Pannekoek, Historic Sites Service, Alberta Culture, conducted the ceremony and presented the Historic Resource plaque. The Foundation was represented by Redvers Perry, a Board Member.

The general store was opened in 1909 by Carl Christiansen, one of the first Danish settlers in the area. His son, Gordon, kept the store open until 1980, at which time he turned it over to the Danish Heritage Society of Dickson. The Society hopes to re-open the store as a museum in recognition of Dickson's Danish heritage.

With funding from the Foundation, Alberta Culture and the Alberta Business Development Corporation, the store has been set back from the road and the exterior restored.

The hamlet is the oldest Danish settlement in Western Canada and home to Canada's first Danish Lutheran congregation.

Doukhobor Pioneers Honoured

An unveiling of a Commemorative plaque to honour Doukhobor pioneers was held October 29th, 1988, at the Lordly Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Cemetery, Arrowwood, south of Gleichen. Andrei Savenkoff, representing the Doukhobor community, and Redvers Perry, Board Member, unveiled the plaque.

A group of Doukhobors, under the leadership of Anastasia Lords, came to the Arrowwood area in 1926, where they farmed and built a village, just south of where the plaque is placed. The village was patterned after earlier settlements in Russian and Saskatchewan. Due to insufficient land and poor crops, the community ceased to exist by the mid-1940's.

Anastasia Lords died November 24th, 1965, and is buried in the cemetery along with other village pioneers. The Foundation helped fund the plaque that honors these early Alberta pioneers.

University of Alberta To Get World Class Museum

The University of Alberta will soon have a world class museum and art gallery, thanks to Alfred Timms, an oil rich farmer from Erskine.

Mr. Timms left his fortune and 800 acre mixed farm to the University with the understanding a building would be named after him. His daughter, who lives in Green Bay, Wisconsin, is thrilled with the museum plan and that the name Timms will be carried on.

The 100,000 square feet, $21.5 million museum will be built in a park-like setting on the campus. The building will have 10,000 square feet of exhibition space, a conservation unit, art storage facilities with studio teaching areas and a 260 seat auditorium. It will also house the university's art collection and its ethnological collection of Indian and Inuit art artifacts.

The building is scheduled to open in 1992. According to its architect, Barry Johns, "its more than a museum. It's four buildings under one roof. There's no precedent for it anywhere in the world."

Book Review

Citymakers: Calgarians after the Frontier

Edited by Max Foran and Sheilagh S. Jameson.
Calgary: Chinook Country Chapter, Historical Society of Alberta 1987. Pp. 386. $16.95 plus
$2.00 postage and handling.

What was Calgary like before the development of the oil industry and the hosting of the 1988 Olympics? Citymakers introduces a wide range of public figures whose spirit shaped the character of the modest prairie centre during the inter-war years. Included are men such as E.L. Richardson who staged Calgary's first ski jump championships from the roof of the Victoria Park grandstand as an attraction of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede in 1921. A.C. Leighton, famed landscape artist, who taught and painted in Calgary is highlighted as well as women like the Barclay sisters who started North America's first youth hostel movement.

The Chinook Country Chapter, Historical Society of Alberta can be proud of this book. It is a collection of biographies, essays and personal The Cornerstone, Page 16 recollections written in a variety of styles by well-known academics, local personalities and interested citizens. It is well organized and contains a cross section of articles so that there should be something of interest for everyone. Those familiar with the early days of the city will identify with the names, places and events and those less familiar will certainly gain insight into life as it was in early Calgary.
